Scottish Energy News is the unique, fast, free, focused and daily, business to business media channel and website entirely devoted to the Scottish energy sector.

Scottish Energy News uniquely covers the entire energy industry spectrum in Scotland – oil, gas, wind, wave, bio-energy, coal, and nuclear, as well as significant regulatory and industry news, events and conferences on a pan-UK and EU basis.

With the energy sector employing more than 200,000 people in Scotland – from Dumfriesshire to the Shetland Islands – the industry is a vital part of Scotland's growing economy.

Sent daily to a (growing) schedule of more than 2,500 individually-named subscribers, the Scottish Energy News e-zine numbers MSPs, MP, MEPs, industry leaders, central and local government energy and economy officers, regulators, consumer groups and supply chain company chief executives and senior directors across the UK amongst its readers.

While the bulk of our readers are naturally based in the UK and Ireland, some 10% of readers are based in the USA, EU, China and Japan.

The editorial policy at Scottish Energy News is to be:

- Independent
- Non-political
- Non-partisan
